Coolidge for More Cruisers, Bill May Pass

President's Approval Strengthens Determination of Administration Leaders to Obtain Passage of $274,000,000 Naval Construction Bill.

Washington, Nov. 13 (AP).—President Coolidge's Armistice Day assertion that "world standards of defense require us to have more cruisers," has served the strengthen the determination of administration leaders in the senate to obtain passage of the $274,000,000 naval construction bill at the coming short session of congress.

It has been followed, too, by a restatement of policy by the Navy Department. This was formulated by the general board of the navy and, bearing Secretary Wilbur's approval, was made public today. Revisions were noted in many details which Mr. Wilbur said had been made for the purpose of eliminating obsolete projects and expanding the aviation branch of the service.

The naval construction bill is ready for consideration by the senate. It has been passed by the house and approved by the senate naval committee and now occupies a place on the senate's calendar of business. It calls for construction of fifteen cruisers of ten thousands tons each, the largest that can be built under the terms of the Washington arms treaty, and for the building of one air craft carrier of 13,800 tons, approximately half the size of the Lexington or Saratoga.

Under the terms of the measure, the cruisers would be laid down at the rate of five each in the fiscal years of 1929, 1930 and 1931. The construction of the aircraft carrier would be begun before June 30, 1930.

Exclusive of aircraft equipment, it is estimated that the sixteen vessels will cost approximately $274,000,000.

Originally a much larger building program was recommended by Secretary Wilbur, but his proposals were whittled down to the proportions of the present measure by the house.

Revision First Since Arms Conference

The revision of naval policy is the first since the Washington Arms Conference. It sets forth that "the fundamental naval policy of the United States is that its navy should be maintained in sufficient strength to support United States policies and commerce, and to guard its continental and overseas possessions."

After pointing out that building and maintenance policy must conform with arms limitation treaties, the general board in its statement said that it was purposed "to build and maintain an efficient, well-balanced fleet in all classes of fighting ships in accordance with the capital ship ratios; and to preserve these ratios by building replacement ships and by disposing of old ships in accordance with continuing programs; to make superiority of armament in their class an end in view of the designs of all fighting ships, and to provide for great radius of action in all classes of fighting ships."

In view of America's comparative lack of fueling bases, which makes small cruisers with their necessarily narrow radius of activity of little value, a point stressed by President Coolidge, the board said that vessels of this description would not be included in future construction programs.

Replace Old Cruisers.

On the other hand, the plan is to "replace all old cruisers with modern cruisers of 10,000 standard tons displacement, carrying eight inch guns and in addition to build similar cruisers at a rate that will maintain effective cruiser tonnage in conformity with the capital ship ratio" established by the Washington conference.

Encouragement to civil aviation occupies a place in the policy enunciated by the board, as well as foreign cruises for the purpose of strengthening relations with other powers and support of American interests in developing the American marine. The board also asserted that the marine corps should be maintained at a strength sufficient to meet the needs of the navy with respect to detachments for vessels of the fleet, troops ready for service as expeditionary forces, guards for shore stations and garrisons for outlying posts.

The policy with respect to the naval air service contemplates the maintenance of the aircraft carrier tonnage allowed by the Washington treaty, the preparation of detailed type plans for the "rapid conversion of suitable merchant vessels to aircraft carriers," and the designing of aircraft carriers in such a way that a maximum of heavy class planes may be carried.

The board also laid down a general policy of directing "the development and employment of naval aviation primarily to the fulfillment of its principal mission, namely, operations at sea with the fleet."

Social Workers in Session.

Rochester, Nov. 13 (AP).—Social workers from all over the state were arriving here today for the 29th annual New York State Conference on Social Work, which will continue through Thursday, discussing mental hygiene, health and family problems, recreational leadership and social programs in industry.

Mayor Dempsey Issues Red Cross Proclamation

Mayor E. J. Dempsey has issued the following proclamation calling attention to the annual roll call of the National Red Cross which was inaugurated on Armistice Day:

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR
CITY OF KINGSTON, NEW YORK.
Edgar J. Dempsey, Mayor.

November 9, 1928.

TO THE CITIZENS OF KINGSTON:

The annual roll call of the National Red Cross will be inaugurated on Armistice Day, November 11th. Every year the work of the Red Cross is expanding. The flood damage in our county during the year brought forcibly to our minds the unexpectedness of such dangers and the necessity for immediate relief. Other sections of the country also suffered and we, as citizens, should feel our responsibility and all of us do our share in preparation for such emergencies.

The workers in the campaign are giving their services freely and it is asked that every assistance be given them. Avoid, if possible, the necessity of a second call by leaving your contribution, if you are not at home, with some neighbor.

Very truly,
E. J. DEMPSEY, Mayor.

Question Trio in McPherson Case

Los Angeles, Nov. 13 (AP).—Three persons who played leading roles in the Aimee Semple McPherson conspiracy case here two years ago were reported to have been ordered to appear today before the Los Angeles county grand jury investigating charges of corruption in the office of District Attorney Asa Keyes.

It was understood that the trio would be questioned about evidence previously unearthed indicating that a large sum of money was spent in clearing the Angelus Temple evangelist of a charge of conspiracy to defeat justice by telling an alleged false story to a grand jury about her disappearance in 1926.

The three persons reported called were Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, mother of the evangelist, who has been at odds with her daughter for some months; Kenneth G. Ormiston, former radio operator at Angelus Temple, who was alleged to have occupied a cottage at Carmel, Cal., with the evangelist during her absence; and Mrs. Lorraine Wisemann-Sielaff, the "Miss X" of the disappearance case, who said it was she and not Mrs. McPherson who was in Carmel with Ormiston.

The present phase of the McPherson case was begun when documents given to newspapermen by Mrs. Kennedy were presented to the grand jury, which recently returned indictments charging bribery against Keyes. The exact nature of these documents has not been revealed, though it is understood they have a bearing on the disappearance case.

Find Mrs. Golnek Dead in Her House

Mrs. John F. Golnek was found lying on the floor of her home, 90 German street, this morning about 10:30 o'clock by Herbert Wolff, a butcher, who called to deliver meat. He notified neighbors, also Dr. John F. Larkin and a clergyman, who found Mrs. Golnek dead when they arrived.

It is thought that a heart attack caused the woman's death. She had been under a physician's care for a time, but as far as could be learned had made no complaint of feeling ill this morning. Neighbors reported seeing Mrs. Golnek on the porch of her home a short time prior to being notified by Mr. Wolff of her condition.

Mrs. Golnek, who was Elizabeth Whitney, is survived by her husband, John F., foreman on the W. F. & R. boatyard of this city; two sons, John and Arthur Golnek, who live with their parents. Funeral arrangements have not been made.

Peterson Held on Forgery Charge

Edgar Peterson of Hunter street was arrested Monday by Sergeant Simpson on a warrant sworn out by Carl G. Fischer of East Strand, charging Peterson with forgery in the first degree. This morning in police court the hearing was adjourned to Friday.

According to the information sworn to by Mr. Fischer at the time the warrant was issued he cashed a check for Peterson drawn on the First National Bank for $30 to the order of "Edgar Peterson" and signed with the name of "David Farber."

ACKERT WITHDREW CHARGE OF RECKLESS DRIVING.

Following a collision on Monday between the large bus of James Ackert and the automobile of Allan M. Sergson of Roslyn, Pa., Ackert arrested Sergson on a charge of reckless driving. This morning in police court Ackert informed Judge Shufeldt that he desired to withdraw the charge against Sergson. His request was granted.

May Retaliate Against Senators

But No Sign Is Displayed Yet at National Capitol of Punishment for Senators of Both Parties Who Bolted Their Ticket.

Washington, Nov. 13 (AP).—Signs of retaliation against members of the Senate who bolted party lines in the Hoover-Smith battle are failing to take shape—unlike the situation four years ago when four Republicans were ejected from their party councils for supporting the late Robert M. LaFollette.

Each party this year has a pair of such recalcitrants. Senators Norris of Nebraska, and Blaine of Wisconsin, left the Republican ranks during the campaign to advocate the election of Governor Smith.

The veteran Senator Simmons of North Carolina, ranking minority member of the Senate Finance Committee, and Senator Thomas Heflin of Alabama, denounced the Democratic presidential nominee.

If either party is contemplating action against its senators who declined to support the national ticket there is no sign of it among the first of the members to return to the Capitol from the campaign. In fact, few members desire to discuss it.

However, Norris, who holds one of the "Big Five" committee chairmanships of the Senate—The Judiciary Committee—indicated today he had heard rumors of revenge against him, but added he knew of no definite steps.

Four years ago, with a substantial majority in the Senate, the Republicans decided not to invite Frazier and Ladd of North Dakota; Brookhart of Iowa, and LaFollette of Wisconsin into their conferences. The first three had supported Senator LaFollette in the 1924 presidential campaign.

Two years ago the two survivors of this group, Frazier and Brookhart, were once more taken into the fold. By coincidence, both senators this year advocated the election of Herbert Hoover.

FRENCH TAKE IRONIC VIEW ON COOLIDGE SPEECH.

Paris, Nov. 13 (AP).—Newspapers commenting today on the Armistice Day speech of President Coolidge attached special importance to it in view of the approaching decision on the revision of the Dawes plan. The comment in general was in an ironic view.

Le Journal, one of the most widely read Paris papers, said:

"America has addressed many homilies to Europe but none in this tone. The voice of triumphant America is that of the censor and creditor, equally severe. America claims not only material but moral superiority."

DESPONDENT LOVER FINED AND JAILED AFTER SHOOTING

Tonawanda, N. Y., Nov. 13 (AP).—Despondent, police said, because of a misunderstanding in a love affair, Joseph Donohue of New York shot himself early today, inflicting a flesh wound in the side.

Picked up by police, Donohue, they said, first declared he had been held up but later admitted he had been refused permission by the girl's mother to visit Miss Helen McGarvey, of North Tonawanda, who had been appearing in a vaudeville theatre in New York.

Donohue was charged with carrying concealed weapons, fined $25 and sentenced to serve 25 days in jail.

Initial and Extra Dividends Declared.

New York, Nov. 13 (AP).—Northern Pipe Line Company of New York and Oil City, Pa., has declared an initial dividend of $2 and an extra dividend of $1 on the $50 par stock. This stock was reduced from $100 par in September. The old stock paid $2 in July this year and $5 in January. The latter payment included a $2 dividend.

Withdraw 500 Marines from China.

Shanghai, Nov. 13.—Five hundred United States Marines, including Infantry, Aviation and Artillery Units, are to be withdrawn from Tientsin to America on December 15. This will leave 1,000 Marines in Tientsin.

Herbert Hoover May Extend His Good Will Tour

Urgent Invitations are Coming From Both South and Central America—Mexico Also Desires Party to Visit Country on Return Trip—Receives William J. Donovan.

Stanford University, Cal., Nov. 13 (AP).—Herbert Hoover may find it necessary to extend the itinerary of his good will tour of Latin-America considerably beyond the scope contemplated when he decided to embark upon his history-making journey.

Urgent invitations for the President-elect to visit countries in both South and Central America which were excluded from the original schedule are now coming and his forty-day itinerary may be extended to two months or slightly longer.

Mexico, Colombia and Ecuador are among the southern republics which have asked that the President-elect include them in his tour, their invitations being joined with that from Bolivia, the visit to which would involve a considerable trip, in adding to that which must be made by the good will mission in moving from Valpariso to Buenos Aires.

Under the original plans, the battleship Maryland bearing Mr. Hoover and his party, would have touched first at Balboa, Panama Canal Zone, and then moved past Colombia and Ecuador to Peru, with Chile the next country to be visited. Both Colombia and Ecuador, through their ministers, have asked that the party call at their capitals.

Mexico Also Desirous.

Mexico also desires to have the party visit that country on their return trip to the United States, with the President-elect going from Vera Cruz to Mexico City by rail.

The original plan was to proceed from Rio De Janeiro to Havana and then to Florida. These invitations are being given consideration, and it may be a couple of days before the final schedule will be announced.

It is settled, however, that the party will leave San Pedro, California, next Monday and it may be that a stop will be made at a Mexican port on the west coast, en route to Balboa.

Besides being attended by Ambassador Henry P. Fletcher, as the official representative of the state department, the president-elect is to have a naval aide, probably Commander Augustin T. Beauregard, grandson of the famous Confederate general, P. G. T. Beauregard.

While the battleship which is to bring the Hoover party from Buenos Aires to the United States has not been selected, it is likely that this duty will fall to the Texas, which also is equipped as a flagship and which conveyed President Coolidge from Key West to Havana last winter when the chief executive attended the Pan-American conference in the Cuban capital.

Donovan Pays Visit.

Hoover turned his attention today from the preparations for his South American trip to receive William J. Donovan, of Buffalo, N. Y., assistant to the attorney general, a close personal friend who stood high in his council of advisors, both during the pre-convention and pre-election campaigns.

Donovan came to California yesterday on official business for the department of justice and stopped over at the Hoover home en route from Los Angeles to San Francisco. His visit served to revive cabinet selection discussion which had become dormant with the announcement of the Latin-American tour.

Both before and since the election, Donovan's name has been spoken of frequently in the discussions of the attorney general for the Hoover cabinet. He has been assistant to the attorney general for several years and has had personal direction of the prosecution of some of the most important litigations which the government has embarked upon during that time.

Doheny Will Quit Oil Industry

New York, Nov. 13 (AP).—Edward L. Doheny, who amassed a huge fortune in oil after an accidental "strike" while prospecting in California 37 years ago, has taken final steps to quit the industry.

The New York banking house of Blyth, Witter & Company and J. & W. Seligman & Company have virtually completed arrangements for the acquisition of nearly all the oil producing properties in California owned by the Petroleum Securities Company, which is controlled by Mr. Doheny and his family, and is valued by the banking group at $42,000,000.

The pending sale is the latest of three by which Mr. Doheny, who is 73 years old, is divesting himself of his extensive petroleum holdings.

He previously sold control of his Mexican properties to the Standard Oil Company of Indiana and last May sold the marketing end of his California properties and some producing fields to the Richfield Oil Company of California.

Public financing of upwards of $30,000,000 is contemplated. The properties involved total over 40,000 acres and have been valued at $42,000,000 by Robert B. Morgan, an independent engineer.

215 Known Rescued of 338 Missing In Lifeboats

Whiteheads Go to Hampton Roads

Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Whitehead of Byrd Cliff, Woodstock, when they received word of the sinking of the steamer on which their son, Ralph, enroute to Rio Janerio, was a passenger, left Monday afternoon for New York city enroute to Hampton Roads. The steamer sank about 300 miles off Hampton Roads. At the Whitehead home this afternoon it was stated that it was not known whether the parents had received any word from their son or not.

Heavy Seas Caused Disasters

Washington, Nov. 13 (AP).—A strong northeast wind, rains, mist and a heavy sea apparently were the weather conditions which surrounded the sinking of the British steamer Vestris and also saw disaster overtake two other vessels. This was revealed by reports to coast guard headquarters here and by radio dispatches from ships which rushed to the aid of the Vestris's passengers.

Eight lives were lost when Captain Lee Hartman, a veteran deep sea fisherman, and his crew put out beyond Hog Island bar, off the Virginia Capes, yesterday to search for a small fishing scow which had gone adrift.

Crossing the bar, heavy seas swamped and sank their motor boat. Other fishermen in the vicinity made an effort to rescue the men in which they were joined by coast guardsmen from the Hog Island and Pelmer's Beach stations, but all that could be found was their boat adrift bottom up.

A hardy Gloucester fishing boat which had ventured far to the south was driven ashore late last night six miles south of Virginia beach. Guardsmen went to the rescue and after a stubborn battle with a high-running surf succeeded in reaching the stranded vessel and carrying ashore its master and the five members of his crew.

The vessel, a steam trawler named the Ruth Mildred, was reported to be leaking badly and it was feared that under the pounding of the surf would be lost.

Los Angeles to Assist in Search

Washington, Nov. 13 (AP).—The Navy dirigible Los Angeles today was ordered to stand by in readiness to leave at dusk to assist in the search for the survivors of the steamship Vestris.

It was explained that the airship would have been dispatched yesterday had it not been undergoing an overhauling at its hangar at Lakehurst, N. J.

The airship is scheduled to be ready to take the air at about 6 o'clock.

Lakehurst, N. J., Nov. 13 (AP).—Installation of experimental gear on the dirigible Los Angeles was discontinued at noon today on receipt of instructions from Washington that the ship should prepare to go in search of missing passengers and crew of the S. S. Vestris, abandoned yesterday.

Huge Tidal Wave Hit Mauretania

Plymouth, Eng., Nov. 13 (AP).—The steamship Mauretania arrived at Plymouth today after a tempestuous voyage during which about twenty passengers and crew members were slightly injured.

The worst day was Saturday, when the liner ran into a terrific gale, the wind attaining a velocity of nearly 100 miles an hour. The seas were terrific and a huge tidal wave "which looked as high as the Mauretania's funnels" came aboard her boat deck. The liner rolled heavily and some twenty passengers and crew were bruised, but all the injuries were of a minor character.

DECLARES UNEMPLOYMENT WILL NOT BE HEAVY.

Washington, Nov. 13 (AP).—Secretary Davis of the Labor Department reported to President Coolidge today that all indications were that the seasonal unemployment this winter will not be as heavy as usual.

The secretary said that in October there was a marked increase in the demand for labor which removed the fear held early in the season of large unemployment this winter.

Keyes Pleads Not Guilty.

Los Angeles, Nov. 13 (AP).—Former District Attorney Asa Keyes appeared in superior court today and pleaded not guilty to an indictment charging him with "wilful and corrupt" practices in office. The trial was set for December 5.

Compilation From Radio Reports Show 123 Still Unaccounted for Early This Afternoon—One Man Known to be Dead, Mother and Child Floating in the Waves and Other Deaths Seem Possible.

(By The Associated Press.)

One man was known to be dead, a mother and child were floating in the rolling waves, and other deaths seemed probable as reports from the rescue fleet off the Virginia Capes slowly pieced out the story of the sinking of the liner Vestris today.

A compilation from radio reports at one o'clock this afternoon showed 215 known rescued of the passengers and crew and 123 still unaccounted for. The American Shipper had 128 survivors aboard, the Tanker Myriam 63, the Liner Berlin 21, and the Wyoming eight. The dead man was picked up by the Wyoming.

This was almost 24 hours after the ship was abandoned.

One man taken from the water by the steamer Berlin told of seeing a woman with a child in her arms floating near him. Search was begun for them and lookout was kept for others who had found no room in the boats or who had been washed from the rafts.

The rescue began before dawn, the ships that had turned from their paths on their errand of mercy being led to the lifeboats by flares sent up by the chilled persons who all night long had tossed on angry waves left from a week end gale.

Lifeboat after lifeboat was sighted and as the morning passed taken aboard with its shivering complement of men and women.

But at noon 123 others were apparently still to be accounted for and there was a growing fear death would claim many of these before they could be saved.

Shortly after noon the Navy Department ordered the dirigible Los Angeles to prepare to leave its hangar at Lakehurst, N. J., at 6 o'clock tonight to join the rescue fleet. It could not leave sooner because it had been undergoing a general overhauling and was not ready to take the air.

All But A Few Apparently Safe.

Norfolk, Va., Nov. 13 (AP).—All but a comparatively few of the 339 passengers and crew of the steamship Vestris today apparently were safe on board the vessels of the rescue fleet.

Five lifeboats and one raft were known to have been picked up by the steamship American Shipper and the oil tanker Myriam and these vessels reported by radio that only one boat and one raft had yet to be found.

Several hours later the coast guard reported picking up a partly garbled message that told of finding an additional boat. The name of the vessel reporting was not picked up. The boats have a capacity of 57. The capacity of the rafts was not known.

That not all managed to get into the boats was hinted when the battleship Wyoming radioed at 9:30 a. m. that she was passing through the wreckage of the Vestris and had picked up "four or five persons." Presumably they were found clinging to wreckage.

The survivors had spent the night tossing about on the stormy Atlantic while the rescue ships sought for them in vain. It was not until 3:39 that the first trace of the survivors, red flares shot upward from the lifeboats, was seen and a half hour later the first of the boats was found.

Night of Suspense and Hope.

Ashore, it was a night of suspense and hope. Until well after midnight the rescue vessels, poking into the gloom with their long white fingers of light, reported only failure.

With the exception of some little wreckage there was nothing to be found. There was not a trace of the vessel's 339 passengers and crew who had taken to the sea in open boats.

And then, at half past three came the first hopeful word. At that hour the steamship American Shipper sent out a message saying that red flares had been sighted. The communication was intercepted by the naval radio station here and by the Radio Marine Corporation at New York.

A tense half hour followed. At four o'clock the American Shipper reported that the first life boat had been found and was alongside. The vessel's radio message said: "Now on scene. One life boat alongside us now."

Just a little while later a second rescue vessel, the oil tanker Myriam, sent out word that it, too, had located a life boat and a little later told of others in the offing. A message from the Myriam to the steamship Sunawco urged that that vessel hurry to the thick of the hunt. It said: "Come on. More boats to pick up. Am bound New York myself. Have rescued boat No. 5."

Another message from the American Shipper was the next to be received. It went on the air shortly after five o'clock and said: "About five miles north of position where found first life boat. Approaching four other life boats now."

5 Life Boats and One Raft Accounted For.

And then, at 5:40 the American Shipper summed up what she and the Myriam had accomplished in a report to the battleship Wyoming which said that between the two they had accounted for five life boats and one raft. The survivors in three of the life boats were taken aboard the American Shipper while the Myriam cared for the rest.

The task of the rescue vessels was made doubly hard because of the uncertainty as to the exact position where the lifeboats were launched and how far they might have drifted since.

The last position reported as the ship was abandoned yesterday at 1:25 p. m. was 37:35 north latitude, 71:08 west longitude, about 240 miles from Sandy Hook and the same distance from Cape Henry, Va., but radio bearings on the vessel by shore stations placed her much farther to the west, indicating that in the excitement the true position of the ship might not have been given or received.

Sends Out S O S

The Vestris, which left New York Saturday bound for Barbados of the Windward Island group and South American ports, reported herself in trouble at 6 o'clock yesterday morning but said she needed no assistance. Then at 10:05 a. m. came the S O S.

Subsequent messages for help during the next three hours and a half said that she had hove to in a gale Sunday afternoon, that she had then developed a list to starboard and that she was sinking slowly. No reason for the trouble was given but officials of the line believed she had either sprung a leak while in the trough of the sea Sunday or struck a submerged derelict.

At the first S O S several commercial ships including the Ohio Maru, the San Juan and the motorship Santa Barbara started to her assistance. The Ohio Maru was nearest to the Vestris and wirelessed she should reach the position by 5 p. m. "Oh please come at once. We need immediate attention," was the answer from the Vestris' radio operator, M. J. O'Loughlin.

The United States Navy then ordered the Coast Guard destroyer Davis and the battleship Wyoming, flagship of Vice Admiral M. M. Taylor, to go to the rescue. The Wyoming, which was at war maneuvers off the Virginia Capes, turned at once toward the Vestris under forced draft.

No Trace of Ship or Lifeboats

The Ohio Maru was first to reach the position last given by the Vestris, but reported there was no trace of the ship or her lifeboats.

The San Juan also reported no sign of the Vestris, or the lifeboats when she arrived at the position given at 5:45. Then at 8 p. m. came a message from the Santa Barbara which said:

"In vicinity of wreck of Vestris, searchlights working but no sign of wreck or lifeboats. Will cruise around".

A garbled message from the destroyer Davis at 10:30 said: "Vessel to port on starboard. No sign of lifeboats. Continuing search." The first part of the message was taken to refer to other rescue vessels in the vicinity.

The Wyoming reported late in the night that she was near the scene and early this morning the Berlin of the North German Lloyd Line said she had reached the position of the wreck. None of the ships reported any success in sighting wreckage or lifeboats until the American Shipper sent her wireless. All the boats reported the visibility was low and that it was raining.

Refuse to Give Up Hope.

Despite the discouraging reports, officials of the line, which is British owned, refused to give up hope. The 18 lifeboats and the motor boat which the Vestris carried were practically unsinkable, they said. They believed that as soon as the lifeboats were clear of the wreck they made for shore, if the motor boat was in shape, probably in tow of her. Thus they were probably several

Woodstock Actors In New York Play

Provincetown Playhouse in New Season — Leading Actor, E. J. Ballentine, Will Have Woodstock Theatre School—Challenge For Playwrights Offered.

(By F. G. Clough.)

The Provincetown Playhouse on MacDougal street, New York, already well known for its experimental productions, offers an interesting and significant 1928-29 playbill. The Provincetown Theatre is of especial interest to Kingstonians and Woodstockers because of its similarity to the Maverick and Byrdcliffe theatres of the past few seasons, and for its possible contribution to coming theatres at the Woodstock art colony.

The amazing thing about this theatre, successfully continuing its lonesome and singular way in an old stable building just off Washington Square, is that while financially unsuccessful, it operates an important influence on dramatic productions the nation over. It was astounding to me to find that such a small playhouse, with such a slim audience, could be the much hailed theatre of which I had read and heard so much prior to my recent and belated visit.

After witnessing the first presentation of the season, "The Final Balance," by David Pinski, one feels that the theatre itself is an important institution, and merits distinction because of the artistry of equipment and seriousness of purpose. The Provincetown Playhouse captivates the imagination because of its absolute independence in the face of many money-minded theatre producers, its friendliness toward contemporary playwrights, and its freedom from the terrible taint which makes the American theatre merely a mercenary organization. It radiates the charm of creative conception, and savors of the intimacy of the "inner room." One leaves this playhouse with a kindly and warm feeling toward the artists who are striving toward a definite goal in such way the Provincetown Playhouse is a tremendous success today.

Pinski's Play

"The Final Balance," being offered as the first of this season's plays, is the work of a playwright without a country, a writer whose work has been winning him praise. Pinski is a Jewish writer who does not limit himself to racial subjects, but treats larger themes with a critical and satirical mind.

This play opens as a dream the curious development in a world where people are mad, and are brought back to sanity by a merchant who has cornered all the old flour, which he sells as the panacea. He strives for wealth, and the love of a woman happily married to another. After the ideas of drinking flour is gone, the people are driven again of the new flour, and all are mad with no care whatever, the merchant is one sane person in a mad world. Which, of course, drives him mad, and to final suicide as the way out. Throughout this fanciful runs the silent theme of a woman's loyalty to her husband, her refusal to return the merchant's love in spite of his profound wealth. This "The final balance" sets out greed and desire as unimportant, gives to those who have, destroys those who have nothing.

The play is in four acts, the last one presenting stage settings of striking artistry for the scene of madness. If the plot of Pinski's play was thin, the starkness of the lines, the conception, make it dramatic enough to atone for conventional shortcomings. Evelyn Clifton designed the costumes, M. Gorelik the settings.

In The Cast

First among the cast of this tragi-comedy is E. J. Ballentine, playing the merchant. Ballentine is a Woodstocker who will have a school of the theatre at the Maverick next season; he plans to improve that theatre and present serious work. His work at the present time certainly marks him as a man capable of doing a great deal with the Maverick theatre. He sustains the Pinski play with an intelligence and restraint in acting which should place him in the ranks of leading actors in New York.

Only a short distance behind Ballentine was Lionel Stander, whose difficult role was given strength and heroics by his work. Mary Michael showed versatility in the part of the merchant's wife. William Franklin as a Shylock, and Emily Graham as the woman faithful to love, were the other important players in the group.

Offers Local Challenge.

One resultant reaction to the Provincetown playhouse for the writer was the cognizance of the need for a Woodstock theatre; Woodstock lacks a serious theatre to keep pace with her art gallery, her music concerts, and her literary environment. The Maverick theatre building suffers the lack of adequate stage equipment, and of capable directorship. If these things are provided, and local playwrights encouraged, one can look for a theatre of importance to take its rightful place in the colony.

The writer is indebted to the management of the Provincetown Playhouse for the privilege of their theatre and the kindness shown by staff members.

MRS. VIBERT GRANTED AN ENOCH ARDEN ANNULMENT

Helen Lois Vibert, 31, of New York city, formerly of Kingston, obtained an Enoch Arden annulment of her marriage to Charles S. Vibert, whereabouts and fate unknown, because on June 15, 1922, Vibert kissed her good-bye, walked from their New York home presumably to his place of business, and disappeared, never to be heard from again, says the Poughkeepsie Evening Star. Mrs. Vibert testified that she believes him to be dead.

The Viberts were married in New York city December 21, 1920. They lived happily together at 124 West 77th street, Mrs. Vibert said, and her husband was in business exporting and importing coal. Then on June 15, 1922, on the best of terms with his wife, he kissed her good-bye, walked out of the house and vanished. Mrs. Vibert has been unable to determine through six years of searching, what became of him.

She testified that she communicated with his business associates, with his parents who reside in Boston, with his friends, and even sought to trace him through the Army records in Washington, as Vibert was a war veteran. She never found a single trace of him.

Mrs. Julia Hilbert Steinberg, friend of Mrs. Vibert, testified of the efforts Mrs. Vibert made to trace her husband. Andrew J. Cook, former assemblyman, Kingston, was attorney for Mrs. Vibert. Justice Morschauser granted an interlocutory decree of annulment, under the Enoch Arden law.

Plattekill Still Seized by Agents

Federal Dry Agents From Local Office Make Raid on Farm on Tucker's Corners Road—Poughkeepsie Man Held for Arraignment Later.

Federal agents from the Kingston office working in cooperation with Sergeant Jack Lockhart, Trooper L. Baker and Corporal Baker of the State Troopers Monday morning about 9 o'clock raided a still on the Frank Gaffney farm on the Tucker's Corner road leading off the High-and-Clintondale highway in the town of Plattekill. The still was a very complete outfit of large capacity and was being used for the cleaning of lacquer thinner and denatured alcohol.

The still, housed in a barn on the premises, was of 2,000 gallon capacity and was a complete plant of modern type capable of turning out a large quantity of stuff. The plant was in full operation at the time the agents and Troopers arrived and it was being used in an attempt to make drinkable poisonous alcohol products.

In addition to the 2,000 steel still there was a 50 horse power steam boiler and a large 35 foot copper column. The column which extended up to the roof of the old barn was a huge affair three feet in diameter. The still, column and condensers were complete.

A quantity of cleaned product was found on the premises together with two 1,500 gallon wooden storage tanks filled with alleged denatured alcohol which was being treated with various chemicals, caustic soda and oils for the purpose of washing and cleaning the fluid prior to being re-distilled.

In addition there was one 750 gallon wooden tank and a 500 gallon galvanized iron tank full of alleged denatured alcohol and a number of 250 gallon hogsheads full of alleged alcohol in various stages of the process toward cleaning.

Patsy Ferrara, who gave his address as 86 Bridge street, Poughkeepsie, was arrested on the premises and was held in connection with the operation. In default of bail he was committed to the Ulster county jail to be arraigned later before U. C. Commissioner A. C. Connelly.

The still, while not as large as some that have been seized by the officers stationed in Kingston, was a very complete plant in every respect. The plant evidently had been used in an attempt to cleanse lacquer thinners and other solvents which contain poisonous substances. Although the process is used generally by these illicit stills it far from removes the poison.

In addition to the equipment of the still house there was a quantity of oil, coke and various equipment seized by the agents. The equipment and materials were destroyed on the premises and the alleged alcohol and thinner was allowed to run away and be destroyed.

A further investigation will be made by the agents to locate others interested in the plant and to involve them in the transaction if possible.

ARMY ENGINEERS' CORPS SHORT OF AUTHORIZED STRENGTH.

Washington, Nov. 13 (AP).—Despite the acquisition of 28 officers, 24 of whom came from West Point, the Army Engineers' Corps is 22 short of its authorized strength of 260.

Major General Edgar Jadwin, chief of engineers, informed Secretary of War Davis in his annual report for the year ending June 30 that the corps was in need of colonels and lieutenant colonels and that the duties and responsibilities usually borne by men of their rank have devolved upon majors. The report was made public today.

During the fiscal year, however, a gain of 398 reserve officers brought the engineer reserve officers to a total of 7,742.

Much of the work of the corps was devoted to mapping regions of the United States and its foreign possessions, improving and reconstructing seacoast fortifications and emplacing 16-inch guns and secondary armament in coast defence. In addition the corps took an important part in the Mississippi River flood control work.

CANADIAN EMPLOYES MISSING IN BARREN LANDS.

Winnipeg, Man., Nov. 13 (AP).—Six employes of the Dominion department of marine and fisheries were missing today in the "Barren Lands" between Fort Churchill and the end of the steel of the Hudson Bay Railway Company in northern Manitoba.

Search was made by airplane and land parties.

The men left Churchill November 3, headed for "Mile 412" on the Hudson Bay Railway, 100 miles away, where they could make rail connections for the Pas. They carried little food and no sleeping bags or tents, depending for shelter on cabins located about 25 miles apart between Fort Churchill and their destination. They should have reached the rail line in four days.

They were provided with maps of the territory but are believed to have strayed from the trail. The weather has been mild for several days but they are believed to be without food.

Criminal Cases In County Court

A brief session of county court was held Monday afternoon at the courthouse with Judge Joseph M. Fowler presiding. District Attorney Traver announced that since making up the day calendar and moving cases for trial he had been informed that the attorneys in the first two cases on the calendar in which he had witnesses subpoenaed for Tuesday morning were engaged in court and would be unable to take up the cases until Wednesday morning. At his request court was adjourned until Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock when it is anticipated the cases will be taken up for trial.

Edward DeLease of Lloyd was arraigned on a charge of assault, second degree, alleged to have taken place on April 12. Through his attorney, William F. Leahey of Highland, he entered a plea of not guilty.

James Manfro, who at the June term of court entered a plea of guilty to rape, second degree, was given a suspended sentence at Elmira State Reformatory. Manfro is working at Albany and was directed to report by letter to Probation Officer Service at least twice a month. At the June term imposition of sentence was deferred until the fall term and Manfro was given a chance to make good. A. J. Cook appeared for Manfro.

William J. Duffy, known also as Jean LaMar, was sent to Elmira Reformatory on a suspended sentence. Duffy recently was picked up charged with having passed several checks which evidently were forged. He was held for the action of the city court and has been in jail for several days. Some time ago Duffy, who resides in this city and is known throughout the Hudson valley as a dance promoter, was arrested on a charge of entering a house on Washington avenue in company with one Delanoy. At that time he plead guilty to burglary, third degree, and was given a suspended sentence in Elmira. Up until now the suspended sentence has been in effect but the recent trouble in which Duffy became involved made it necessary for the court to hale him into court and make the sentence effective.

Court recessed until Wednesday at 10 o'clock.

Drunken Drivers Show Increase

Albany, N. Y. Nov. 13 (AP).—More New York state motorists lost their driving licenses during the two weeks ended October 31 for driving while intoxicated than for any other cause, according to a statement issued by Charles A. Harnett, state commissioner of Motor vehicles.

Of 613 licenses which were revoked in those two weeks by the commissioner, 153 were for driving while intoxicated, while 40 other motorists had their licenses suspended because they were charged with driving while intoxicated. The licenses revoked for that cause were distributed throughout the state as follows: Albany district, 14; Manhattan district, 33; Brooklyn district, 49; Buffalo district, 3; Syracuse district, 18; Rochester district, 14, and Utica district, 8.

Another outstanding cause of revocations was leaving the scene of an accident without reporting. These revocations occurred as follows: Albany district, 4; Manhattan district, 3; Brooklyn district, 4; Buffalo district, 3; Syracuse district, one; Rochester district, 1, and Utica district, 2.

Five women were among those whose licenses were revoked, while the licenses of five other women were suspended.

Brake and Light Test Under Way

The official brake and light test, conducted by the Ulster County Automobile Club and the police department, opened successfully Monday. Despite the rain which failed to dampen the motorists' spirits, they had quite a turn out.

George C. Carl, field director of the club, reported that one-third of the cars which were tested had poor brakes or no brakes at all. Those whose brakes did not meet the A. A. A. requirements were advised to have their brakes adjusted immediately. Members may do so at any A. A. A. garage at the expense of the club. Cards were issued to those with good brakes.

The light test was postponed on account of the rain and will be resumed tonight, weather permitting. An inspector's sticker will be provided for cars whose lights and brakes met the official regulations.

Ample time to test all cars has been allowed by the club, which is testing from 2 to 10 p. m., until November 24. By the end of the campaign all good citizens with civic pride will be displaying the official sticker.

Drys in England Point to Hoover

London, Nov. 13 (AP).—The Daily Express said today that the victory of Herbert Hoover had served as an incentive to prohibition advocates in England to prepare for an energetic campaign against alcohol in connection with the general election next year.

Prohibitionists were quoted as saying that Mr. Hoover's majority had given every temperance and prohibition organization in Great Britain new hope and that it would certainly stimulate the cause of temperance throughout the world.

The paper said temperance organizations would put forward prohibition candidates in forty constituencies and would pledge their votes to any candidate elsewhere supporting such measures as local option.

The hope was not entertained of making England dry at once, but the proposal was to move toward that goal in such stages as the establishment of local option and the tightening of existing laws regarding limitation of saloon hours and the sale of intoxicants in clubs.

Victory Ball Great Success

The tenth Annual Victory Ball of the American Legion held Monday night in the armory will go down in the history of Kingston Post, No. 150, as one of the most successful events of the kind ever held. A large attendance enjoyed the high calibre entertainment that started the affair and dancing, which ceased at 2 a. m.

At 11 o'clock, as is the custom at the Victory Ball each year, two minutes of silence was observed for the doughboys who sacrificed their lives overseas or passed on since the close of the great World War. Every light in the big drill shed was dimmed at the set hour and taps rang through the armory. Frank Sass, sergeant bugler of the Legion Drum Corps, sounded the taps.

Soon after the last note died gayety again reigned and Johnny Erne's band of local musicians vied with Jimmy Caruso's radio orchestra of New York city in furnishing enjoyable dance music.

The entertainment that opened the Victory Ball in the armory, which was made beautiful by artistic decorations, pleased immensely, and the artists had to respond to generous encores that echoed through the armory.

THE BREAK OF THE SOUTH

The Brooklyn Citizen notes, and other commenting newspapers agree, that the fact "that Virginia, the native soil of Washington, Jefferson and Patrick Henry should go Republican on a religious issue is perhaps the most remarkable feature of this election"—adding that the Democrats of that and three other Southern States "evidently prefer the leadership of Bishop Cannon to that of Thomas Jefferson." That religious prejudice was regarded as the main factor by Virginia's minority appears to be clearly indicated by the following Associated Press dispatch from Charlottesville: "Two statues of Thomas Jefferson on the grounds of the University of Virginia were draped in mourning today (November 7). One of them bore a card reading: 'To the Memory of Jefferson Democracy and Religious Freedom—Died November 6, 1928.'"

The rejoicing that the "solid south" has been broken for the first time since the Civil War, or since the franchise was restored to the Southern whites at the end of the "Reconstruction" era, might reasonably be accompanied by congratulations that the solidity of Republican New England has also been broken. For if the one was politically "unhealthy," so was the other. Rhode Island and Massachusetts were among the eight rather lonely states that went Democratic. Whether both the South and New England will re-solidify when the present dividing issues are removed is an interesting question. In the meantime it is of interest to note that even this time the South remained "solid" wherever the negro population is very great. Mississippi with its 52 per cent negroes, South Carolina with the 51 per cent, Georgia with 41 per cent, Louisiana with 39 per cent and Alabama with 38 per cent, remained Democratic.

A PROHIBITION REFERENDUM?

As Governor Smith pretty definitely made prohibition the leading issue, the question is naturally being asked as to what extent his vast popular vote implied opposition to the Volstead act. Although by the count of the Electoral College he may indeed have been "the worst beaten candidate in history," the reports at this writing indicate that from fourteen to seventeen million ballots were cast for him—which "may prove to be a larger vote than has hitherto been polled by any man elected to the Presidency." However that may be, it is certain that a vast minority voted for him in spite of religious prejudice, the strength of prohibition sentiment, conservative disinclination to change, and the other objections that found voice.

That sentiment against prohibition was largely involved in the Southern States he won may reasonably be doubted, but undoubtedly it was involved in his victory in Rhode Island and Massachusetts. It was also involved in the border States and in numerous States East and West which he lost by a narrow margin. On account of the complexity of the conditions and Smith's several handicaps it will be impossible to ascertain definitely to what extent opposition to the Eighteenth amendment was involved. But the inquiry is important and will be pursued with keen interest because the election of 1928 was perhaps as near a national referendum on prohibition as the opponents of that policy are likely to be able to secure—at least for a long time to come.

"Stillnesses" are back. According to a masculine fashion note, "Suspenders, old-fashioned ones in brilliant colors—the kind that father used to wear—will be with us all winter." Two pairs are being sold, store dealers say, to every belt. Are they to be worn with belts? Presumably not. That camouflage of the timid, resorted to occasionally by old-fashioned suspender-lovers in these belted years, will not be necessary. Father may not even have to wear a vest to cover up the suspenders.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

Mr. Hoover has unusual grasp of knowledge of foreign affairs and international legal [illegible] to participate in determining [illegible] as incumbent of the most important and powerful office in the world should be able to do much for the cause of peace. The Kellogg-Briand treaty for the theoretical renunciation of war has been widely adopted but will remain as mere gesture until formally ratified by the signatory countries—ratification by our own Senate being opposed by the "irreconcilionists" members. Perhaps no American President has ever had such an opportunity as Mr. Hoover will have to serve humanity as well as his own country by the [illegible] he chooses to exert.

It has been said that only Welshmen and Jews are of truly ancient lineage, but what of the 124th Emperor of Japan who on November 5 celebrated his formal accession to "the throne of a lineal descent unbroken for ages eternal?"

OLD FOLKS AND OPERATION.

Perhaps you have wondered why very old folks, 75 to 85 years of age, have undergone an operation for gall stones and other surgical conditions and have come through successfully, whereas younger folks, between 40 and 60, have not been so fortunate.

It is only natural that our older folk should greatly dislike the idea of an operation, but there come times when life itself depends upon an immediate surgical operation.

Dr. F. Metzler of Vienna studied 45 cases of gall stone disease in patients over 60 years of age. These patients had undergone operation, and the only cases which did not give satisfactory results where those in which the patient had delayed operation too long and had to undergo the operation during the acute condition.

You would naturally expect that the age of the patient would have an important bearing upon the success or results of the operation, but Dr. Metzler tells us that the age is not so important as the condition of the patient and the length of time he has been suffering with gall stones.

You can readily understand that there is not only the formation of the gall stones, which shows a faulty condition of the liver, but the attacks of gall stone colic are a terrific shock to the entire system. As you know the severe colicky pain is caused by the gall stone trying to get through the small duct and into intestine. Its sides are rough and it stretches and tears the small tube or duct; hence the pain.

Thus if a patient has a chronic inflammation of the gall bladder, with attacks of colic, it is going to so undermine his system that when an operation becomes necessary he will not be in very good condition to withstand it.

The thought then is that where there is an unusual amount of gas formation in stomach and intestine, pain at right lower side of chest, sometimes extending into right shoulder, or definite attacks of gall stone colic from time to time, that if surgical interference is found to be necessary it should not be delayed too long if good results are to be obtained.

It is the length of time the condition is allowed to continue that renders the operation safe or dangerous.

"Hoover Market" Forces Brokers to Seek Rest

New York, Nov. 13 (AP).—Because of the "Hoover Market," which surpasses the wild uprush of stocks last spring, the human cogs in the brokerage machine were almost at the point of exhaustion today.

Midnight oil is being burned in brokers' offices as the overworked bookkeeping staffs attempt to keep pace with a market which high speed tickers have found difficulty in following within an hour of actual transactions.

The brokers on the floor, around whom eddy and swell the buying and selling currents, are being forced to take extended week-end vacations. Many of the older members have been forced to give up their seats to younger members of their firms better able to withstand the physical battering they must undergo.

Michael J. Meehan, former broker-age clerk, who was the whirlpool center of the bull market in radio last spring, felt the strain so deeply that he has gone on a month's vacation. He is reputed to have added additional millions to those he made last spring in the current "bull" market."

Downtown restaurants have been forced to put on extra help to take care of the enormous volume of meals ordered carried to the brokerage houses for employes too busy to go out for them.

In an effort to check the frenzied operations many commission houses have increased their margin requirements to 40 per cent or more, especially for stocks selling above $200 a share. To date, however, this move seems to have had little effect, and there have been few liquidations of week-end marginal accounts.

Many specialists on the floor have refused stop orders, that is, to accept a range within which they would be authorized to operate for their clients. They have complained that it is physically impossible for them to watch such orders in this kind of a market.

New high speed printers, capable of handling three times the present volume by printing 1,000 characters a minute, are being manufactured to record sales. But this service cannot possibly start operation for some time. Some brokers say that the new printers will be so rapid they will be unable to read and follow them and any advantage in speed will be lost.

Early next month sale of under 500 shares is to be dropped from the ticker, except on opening sales, but the exchange will keep the volume count and supply it to newspapers over telegraph printers at regular intervals. The price on all sales of course will be carried. This is expected to speed up the ticker ten per cent. In yesterday's record market of 5,670,600 shares the ticker was one hour and 35 minutes behind trading at the close.

I.O.O.F. Meeting At Marlborough

Saturday evening, November 3, about 200 Odd Fellows of the Ulster district gathered in the Odd Fellows' hall at Marlborough. In spite of the rain and fog that made driving very difficult those good folks drove from all parts of the county, 11 lodges of Ulster district being represented.

There were several members from Dutchess and Orange counties present, in all about 16 lodges being represented including a bus-load from Tillson and Olive Bridge and also from Saugerties, which included the degree team of William H. Raymond Lodge. This team worked the initiatory degree. The work of this team made the evening a very pleasant event and much credit was given the degree master, Brother Hill, and his splendid team. The splendid leadership, and cooperation of the men on this team have made it one of the outstanding in this section of the state.

Under the good and welfare of the order the president of the Past Grands' Association, Brother Arthur Trowbridge, who presided, called upon several members who spoke on the good and welfare of the order. One of the visitors of the evening was Brother Scofield, one of Newburgh's outstanding Odd Fellows. His remarks was received with much interest, his words being well chosen and his advice being most instructive.

Poughkepsie was also represented by some well known brothers of the order. Brother Slimmer, who is traveling the road that leads to the highest office in the state. He also proved himself an orator of some note and judging from the applause at the conclusion of his address proved that he made a good many new friends. Brother Lousten, also of Poughkeepsie and one of the leaders of the State Encampment, was another of the bright lights of the evening. While his remarks were brief he made a profound impression upon his listeners.

Brother Young of Marlborough Lodge made a very splendid address in welcoming the Brothers of Advance Lodge of Marlborough which was greatly appreciated by all. Sidney Johnson, district deputy grand master of Ulster district, also spoke on the good of the order.

The meeting was very largely attended, including the district deputy grand master and four past district deputies, Brother Lameree, Brother Wright, Brother Bishop, Brother Trowbridge, making it a session which will be long remembered.

As soon as the lodge closed the doors were opened and in walked the Sister Rebekahs who escorted the husbands, or friends, into the large dining room, which proved to be too small for the large delegation which had assembled. But the ladies had provided enough for all. A delicious roast beef supper was served. After the supper President Arthur Trowbridge with a few well chosen remarks introduced J. J. Donavan, who proved himself a very acceptable after-dinner speaker and all listened with marked attention. At the close of his most inspiring remarks Brother Trowbridge introduced A. J. Coffey of Phoenicia, who also proved himself an acceptable after dinner speaker by his good humor and well chosen remarks. The event closed in the wee hours of the morning and every one felt it had been a profitable evening. The committee wish to thank Brother Ward and Brother Young, and also all the members and all Rebekahs of Marlborough Lodge.

Burglars Visit Winnisook Camp

500 Fifth Avenue.
New York City.

To the Editor of The Freeman:

Sir:—On a recent visit to my camp at the Winnisook Club I discovered entrance had been gained to my cabin and a Mauser rifle, sixteen gauge shotgun, twenty-two target pistol, red and blue mackinaw and grey suede leather jacket had been stolen, all the property of my fifteen year old son.

The newly gained possession of so many articles of this nature could not help but arouse the suspicion of friends of the person taking them. It is with a view of calling to their attention through the widespread circulation of your paper, the greater duty they owe to themselves and the other residents of the county, in divulging the name of this culprit rather than protecting him, that I am writing to you.

I can readily recall the day when it was an inviolable rule among hunters never to touch the possessions of others. One could leave anything along the roadside without fear of its being molested. If things have come to such a pass that nothing is safe, even under lock and key, then as a means of protection it will behoove the property owners to adopt stringent rules for the exclusion of hunters from their property.

The Winnisook preserve of two thousand acres, and only through which access can be had to thousand of other acres of state land, has always been open to fishermen and hunters. If this theft goes undetected I will be for excluding everybody but members and guests from the property and will use my influence to get other property owners to do likewise.

Very truly yours,
FREDERICK S. BENEDICT.

Junior League Teas Saturdays

So many requests for tea on Saturday afternoons have come in to the Junior League headquarters that it has been decided to change the time of the weekly teas from Wednesday to Saturday afternoons. Now that the cold weather has come to stay and the afternoons are short, fewer people go away over the week end and it becomes a question of what to do on Saturday afternoons. The answer is, come to the Junior League headquarters on Wall street any time from three to six. Tea and delicious homemade cakes and sandwiches are served there at a very moderate price and in the pleasantest surroundings.

This is the means by which the girls of the League finance their headquarters where they hope to establish a baby clinic this winter. At headquarters also is the home of the Junior League nurse, Miss Beatrice Heaton, and she may always be reached there.

The teas were started last summer as an experiment and have more than accomplished their purpose of paying for the headquarters so that the Junior League girls are still able to assure all those who help them so generously with their yearly ball that every cent of the money made at that time goes directly into their Child Welfare Work.

LAST NIGHT on the RADIO

Reception Monday night was greatly impaired by static. Chicago stations were strong and WLW was, of course, one of the clearest and strongest DX stations on the air. WBBM and KDKA were also notably good under the circumstances.

This evening at 8 o'clock over the WEAF chain Governor Alfred E. Smith will deliver "A Message to the American People."

Reception this morning was strong and the local buzzer was buzzing.

Giovanni Martinelli, famous grand opera tenor, and a symphony orchestra, under the direction of Gennaro Papi, former conductor at the Metropolitan, will present an hour's program of the most popular classical music in the General Motors Family Party at 9:30 on Monday evening, November 19.

Every Wednesday night, 6:30 to 7, from now until Christmas, Station WJZ will broadcast the doings of Santa Claus and his helpers, the little "Gnomies", so dear to the hearts of millions of children. For the next two Wednesday evenings the Gnomies will be on vacation in New York city, and after that Santa Claus himself will talk directly to the children. A distinctive feature of the program is the "Gnomie Band", a novelty, which plays children's music. This series of entertainments, sponsored by Columbia Cycles, is a continuation of the series of last season. The programs are very interesting for the little ones.

Beniamino Gigli, Italian tenor of the Metropolitan Opera Company, stars in the Atwater Kent Radio Hour, Sunday night. He will sing two songs from opera, Pure as a Flower, from "Mignon"; Like a Dream, from "Martha"; A Furtive Tear, from "Elixir of Love". Other songs by the great tenor will be Plaisir d'Amour, Rimpianto, La Violetta; and a group in English, Come Live With Me, If I Gave You a Rose, and Life. The Atwater Kent Orchestra will open the program with Coronation March, from "The Prophet." The interlude includes Minuetto all'Antico, by G. Kargaranoff, and Chaminade "Arlequine. Their closing number will be Grainger's Country Gardens.

The next in the series of Old Company's programs featuring Reinald Werrenrath and sponsored by The Lehigh Coal and Navigation Company, presents the American baritone in a series of "Old Italian Songs" to be broadcast through the NBC System, on Sunday evening, November 18, at 7 o'clock.

ELEANOR GUNN ON FASHIONS

Tweed and Ribbon Form a Strange Alliance for November.

New York.—November is a month in which fur and wool leap into our style consciousness. Every woman with any pretense to smart dressing has a woolen dress—probably tweed.

It is more apt to be a one-piece model and may be smartly trimmed with ribbon. A curious touch, but which as a matter of fact has a great deal to commend it.

Applied flat bands, often in layers of which each is a different color and width than the other, reconcile anything as feminine as ribbon with anything as masculine as tweed. Hercules or circ braid which might be expected to team with tweed are more inclined to appear with crepes and transparent materials. Grosgrain or belting ribbon is a smart choice for the tweed dress, so often fashioned on coat lines.

Women are beginning to show a justifiable curiosity concerning spring clothes, although their winter wardrobes are not complete. It seems probably that tweed and tweed designs will continue through the southern season and until spring. The immediate acquisition of a relatively straight line tweed dress or a smart tweed suit is certainly not a bad investment. Greys and tones bordering on heather, purple and blue, appear to be vieing beige and brown. There is even a measure of interest in the black wool dress as a newcomer in sports fields.

STONE RIDGE P.-T. A. HEARS DR. MICHAEL

Friday evening, November 9, the Stone Ridge P.-T. A. met at the school house for their monthly meeting. Mrs. Service, the president, presided and after the business was finished, at which time reports were made on play ground equipment, a very delightful entertainment was given, a vocal solo by Mrs. L. D. Sahler and instrumental music and recitations by several of the children.

Then Mrs. Service presented Dr. Michael, superintendent of Kingston schools, who gave a very interesting talk on "Character and Citizenship." He spoke of the reverence and strong characters hidden under the flippant manner of the youth of today. Everybody present expressed their appreciation of having an opportunity to hear Dr. Michael and felt they had many helpful ideas to carry home. Mrs. Service in thanking Dr. Michael for the P.-T. A., said if the local organization had done nothing more than bring him to that community, she felt it was worth while.

The Rev. Mr. Rugh of the Methodist Church was present and gave a few words of greeting.

Homemade ice cream and cake were served by the committee and all had a very pleasant social hour.

There were over fifty present, among them guests from High Falls and other communities.

Each lesson a group of interesting menus and recipes are explained and demonstrated.

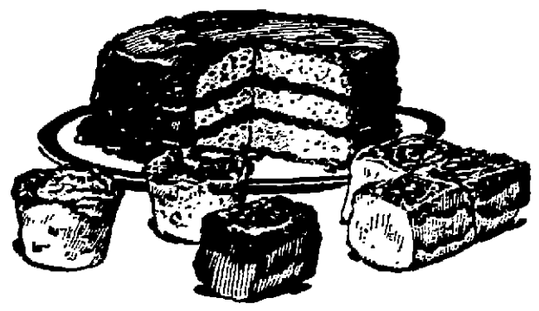
BEAN HOLE BEANS



They'll taste better if you bake them this way—

The next time you bake use Pillsbury's Best Flour, and notice how much better everything tastes.

The flour you use has a lot to do with the flavor of the foods you bake. The food editors of leading magazines—women who have spent their lives studying baking—say that this is true. There's a good scientific reason for it. Certain kinds of wheat are richer in flavor than others, and Pillsbury's Best is made only from these carefully selected types of wheat. Try it yourself—you'll find a delicate, unmistakably better flavor in everything you bake!

This is the first of a series of three lectures on the young child.

The second lecture, "Suitable Toys for Young Children", will be given on the following afternoon at the same time. Dr. Wilker will show how certain toys may help develop such desirable habits as independence and self-control while others may lead to unfortunate habits.

Mothers interested in what psychologists today know about the proper guidance of the small child should plan to attend the special course of three lectures by a specialist on the subject.

The last lecture of the series, "Success in Guiding Young Children", will be given on Friday afternoon at the same time. All attending are urged to arrange to hear all three of these lectures; 97 have already enrolled. The number attending is limited to 375.

Junior League Holds Day Nursery.

Again, the Junior League of Kingston is holding a day nursery to care for the children while mothers attend Dr. Wilker's school. The rooms are next door to Everett's bakery on the corner of Wall and Main streets. Miss Beatrice Heaton, Junior League nurse, will be present to examine all children entering the nursery so there will be no chance of the spread of infectious diseases.

Mrs. Anderson Carl, president of the Junior League, reports that milk will be served at mid-afternoon, and ladies experienced in the care of children will be at the nursery to see that all children will have excellent care. Toys are furnished and plans are all completed to show the children happy times on the afternoons of Dr. Wilker's school. All mothers who cannot otherwise arrange to have the children cared for can feel perfectly at ease to leave them at the Junior League day nursery.

Why Continue to Patch Up Your Poor Weak Gassy Stomach

Why not look the facts in the face?

Relievers relieve for a few hours—but that's all they do—or can do.

Continually paying out good money for just a few hours' relief isn't exactly common sense.

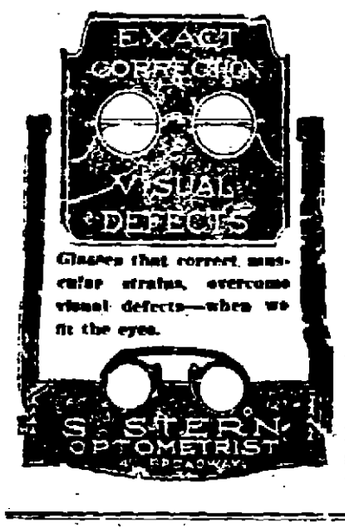
Why not get hold of a good prescription—one that not only stops gas, acidity, sourness and indigestion agony in a few minutes, but will also build up your distressed and run down stomach in two or three weeks and put it in such a sound, healthy condition that you'll be able to digest the heartiest meal without the least discomfort?

Why not ask McBride's Drug Store or any druggist anywhere for QUELS—it is the one good remedy that every man or woman who suffers from stubborn, suffocating indigestion needs and ought to have.

If you suffer from obstinate indigestion or acid dyspepsia, why not give QUELS the chance they deserve?—They are not expensive—just a few cents a box.

Start today with this supremely efficient prescription—chew and swallow two QUELS after each meal—as palatable as candy.

And here's something more—if after chewing one box of QUELS you don't say they did more to help your disordered stomach than anything you ever tried—get your money back. Guaranteed by McCoy's Laboratories, 62 West 14th St., New York, distributors of McCoy's Tablets, and McCoy's Cod Liver Oil.



Monday Club Lecture on Europe

The fourth of the Monday Club lectures was given in the chapel of the First Reformed Church on Monday afternoon by Dr. F. R. Flournoy, professor of history at St. Stephen's College. His subject was "The Political History of Europe Since the World War." Dr. Flournoy gave a very comprehensive presentation of his interesting and inclusive subject, holding the very close attention of his hearers. It was of interest to note his idea that several of the smaller European countries having considered the apparent success of Mussolini and tried to emulate that outstanding historic figure, but with indifferent success. Dr. Flournoy summed up his lecture in favor of liberal democracy in Europe which, while it was not ideal in every sense, had made fair progress and certainly other forms of government had fared worse.

Next Monday afternoon Dr. J. T. Krumpelmann, professor of German, will lecture on "The Germany of Today."

"The Building Power of Father John's Medicine Creates Strength for the Whole System"

"I was so weak after a serious operation that I could hardly walk," writes Miss Thelma Mae Mert, 2808 East 4th St., Dayton, Ohio. "Father John's Medicine speedily built me up. As a body builder, strength giver and for building up an appetite it is the best—it just can't be beat."

News From the World on Wheels

Information has just leaked out to the effect that Reo is about to introduce a new automobile. No details are available except that the car is to be somewhat lower in price than the Flying Cloud, and that it will supplement, and not replace, the Flying Cloud. Officials of the company were reticent about the new car, but admitted that such a car was in process of going into production, and stated that public announcement would be made about December 15. Persons who have seen the new Reo state that it is entirely new in appearance, and unusually attractive.

With prospective motor car buyers demanding definite proof of the performance ability of a car, various tests that have been conducted by the Franklin Automobile Company of Syracuse, N. Y., in all parts of the country have been outstanding factors in the unusual sales volume being registered in the Franklin Airman Limited line of quality cars. The latest Airman Limited demonstration was made this week over a route from Columbus, Ohio, to Marietta, a distance of 114.5 miles which the air-cooled Franklin negotiated in 2 hours, 5 minutes and 49 seconds, lowering the former mark by 12 minutes and 26 seconds. The Franklin, a sedan model, averaged 54.67 miles per hour over the course which carried the car up the hills of Southern Ohio noted for their sharp grades and numerous turns. Cannon Ball Baker, chief test pilot for the Franklin Company was behind the wheel of the Airman Limited and made the remarkable time despite the 302 turns and 4 minutes and 40 seconds lost because of a puncture and a delay at a railroad crossing.

With but 10 months of 1928 elapsed, 53 per cent more Oldsmobiles have been shipped from the factory than during the entire 12 months of 1927, factory officials announce. This high record is doubly significant in view of the fact that Oldsmobile has been making consistent increase for the past three years and 1927 was the company's best year. From January 1 to the end of October, this year, more than 83,000 Oldsmobiles have been shipped to dealers, the official report continues. The October shipments totalled nearly 7,000 cars.

The championship speed of Studebaker's famous President Eight, holder of eight official world records for speed and endurance, was demonstrated recently when a stock President Eight roadster was selected as the official pace car for the final A. A. A. speedway race of the season at Salem, N. H. Driven by Ralph Hepburn, the President roadster swept around the track at an average of 81 miles an hour to win the coveted honor of leading the fleet of tiny race cars on the first lap of the big speedway event. Hepburn's car was one of the two strictly stock fully equipped roadsters which last August traveled 30,000 miles at a sustained speed of nearly 70 miles per hour on the Atlantic City Speedway under the sanction and observation of the American Automobile Association. Since that time the roadster has been taking Hepburn on a demonstration tour of the country.

Lack of proper adjustment in both lights and brakes on motor vehicles in this city is a matter of serious concern, in the opinion of the officials and members of the safety committee of the Automobile Club of Ulster county. Over 50 per cent of all automobile brakes and lights are out of adjustment. Speaking in behalf of the club, Mr. Suskind, executive secretary, and Chief J. Allan Wood, chairman of the safety committee, announced that a brake and headlight campaign is to be conducted, free to all motorists, November 10 and lasting until Saturday evening, November 24. These arrangements have been made to adjust all lights and test all brakes during that week of every motorist who avails himself of the opportunity. Mr. Suskind points out that this testing campaign is not compulsory and that no motorist who may feel that he has poor headlights or use of brakes ought to feel embarrassed in having his lights and brakes tested in as much as no criticism will be made to poor condition, but rather an effort made to remedy the condition as to make motoring safe. Arrangements have been made to adjust all lights and test all brakes during next week, which tests are to be held on Pine Grove avenue under the auspices of the Ulster County Automobile Club and Kingston police.

"Didn't tell you to!" snapped the specialist, "I mean to dodge 'em."

Try This For Amusement

Here is a little problem to try when you are lonesome. It is more than odd and interesting. Set down these figures—1 2 3 4 5 6 7 9, leaving out eight. Choose one of these figures and multiply it by nine. Then multiply 12345679 by the result. To your surprise the final result will be made up of nothing but the first figures chosen. For example, suppose you choose figure five. Multiplying by nine gives 45. Multiplying 12345679 by 45 gives 555555555. And no matter which figure is chosen to begin with the final result will always contain nine duplicates.

Gas Incineration for Healthful Living

No woman relishes the idea of running out into a cold, slippery yard in wintry weather to dispose of rubbish and waste foods. Nor in warm weather does she desire odiferous cans to attract flies—especially if there are young children in the home so susceptible to illness. In any event, the garbage can, breeder of flies and disease, no longer is regarded a necessary evil in the modern home.

Gas-fired incinerators dispose of waste matter so easily and in such a sanitary manner that they are rapidly appearing in all homes where healthful living is essential. The rubbish, whether wet or dry, goes into the container and is burned without odor—the water evaporates. Gas fired incinerators are low-priced to buy and inexpensive to operate.

Dr. Grinton Makes Appeal for Help

Superintendent of Five Points Mission Outlines Some Relief Work and Stresses Need for Outside Assistance at This Season.

New York, November 10, 1928.
To the Editor of The Freeman.
Sir:

The Five Points Mission for many years has sought to emphasize the "Thanksgiving season" by distributing Thanksgiving dinners among its constituents and the very poor of the neighborhood.

In this congested district there is no difficulty in finding scores if not hundreds to whom a Thanksgiving dinner is a real blessing.

Will you visit with me two or three homes of our own people? In a large tenement on — street there are 20 families. The janitor of this house lives in three rooms, all dark. There is a small window in each, but the next door building comes up so close to it that light and air are in little evidence. The man of the house played the drum in a cabaret, but through ill health lost his position and now has to content himself with an occasional day's work at unskilled labor as health and opportunity permit. He has a wife and four children to support. He receives his rent and $10 a month for his care of the building. This $10 is supplemented with such amounts as he can pick up. His wife is regular in her attendance at church and prayer meeting, always bringing the baby with her while the father remains at home, caring for the other children.

How can this family purchase a Thanksgiving dinner?

We enter another home. In three rooms we find a father, mother and six childhen. The oldest is 15, a girl. She is in high school and is eager to go to college and become a teacher, but it looks doubtful to say the least. The father is a laborer and earns $25 a week when he has steady employment, which is not always assured. They pay $17 a month rent. The children with the exception of the baby are all members of our Sunday school and belong to several of our clubs and classes. It would be exceedingly difficult for them to have any extras at Thanksgiving time.

The last visit we will make is the neediest of all. A worthless husband and father who spends all he can get his hands on for drink; who pays nothing for the support of his family and only returns to his family when he is drunk, and then the wife and children have to flee for their lives. Many times this poor wife and mother has come to the Mission with her body all bruised from this man's blows and abuse. Several times he has been sent away, only to return and repeat the performance. There are five young children, all well behaved and prepossessing. The oldest, a girl, married a worthless young man and she has her share of trouble. The other, a boy, follows in the footsteps of his father.

Certainly any help the Mission can render this heart-broken mother who is a member of our Mission Church is well deserved. The poor woman has been a housekeeper for some time, receiving her rent for her services, but because of the actions of her husband she has lost her position, and has been notified she must move. All that stands between her and actual need is the $7 a week she receives for scrubbing floors. Does not this sorely distressed family need all the help the Mission can give? Will not a Thanksgiving dinner cause these children to open their eyes a little wider? Will your readers share some of their bounty with those who are less fortunate?

Gifts of dry groceries, fruits, vegetables and money are more than welcome, to meet our needs at this time.

Please make checks payable to Miss Florence A. Carmichel, treasurer, 69 Madison street, New York city.

Yours to help the poor,
G. W. GRINTON,
Superintendent.

Unbeaten Grid Teams Look for National Honors

New York, Nov. 13 (AP).—National championship football aspirations have been blown about in none too gentle fashion thus far but when it comes to measuring the qualifications of contenders, none stands out any more today than Carnegie in the east, Georgia Tech in the South, and Iowa and Nebraska in the middle west.

There are others clamoring for recognition among the slim slate of the unbeaten, such as Florida, Tennessee, Detroit, Ohio Wesleyan and Boston College. There are still more, such as West Virginia and Notre Dame, that have gathered fresh headway after faltering in the early stages. The final returns are not yet in and they may take a lot of debate anyway but just now none has a better claim to recognition than Carnegie Tech, Georgia Tech, Iowa and Nebraska.

Iowa and Nebraska have had close calls, one point victories which the Hawkeyes gained over Minnesota and the cornhuskers over Syracuse, but they have decisively whipped their other foes. Carnegie and Georgia Tech have been equally impressive, bowling over all opposition in a season where consistency has not been an outstanding virtue.

Georgia Tech's Tornado, with a mighty line and one of the greatest all-round backs in the country in Warner Mizell, has just about as fine a record so far as any team in the land. It takes on added lustre through Notre Dame's thrilling victory over the hitherto unbeaten Army. Tech's great forwards smeared Notre Dame a few weeks ago on Grant Field, decisively whipping the same Hoosier array that ripped the stalwart West Point defense to shreds Saturday before a howling crowd of 86,000 at the Yankee Stadium. While this was going on, Mizell and other Tech terrors were playing havoc with Vanderbilt and crushing the previously unbeaten Commodores. They take on Alabam's Crimson tide this week at Atlanta.

Carnegie's claims to the top flight were well buttressed Saturday when the Tartans took Georgetown, another unbeaten array, into camp in clean cut fashion and just to prove that they have no fears about staking their reputation on any field. Carnegie roams out to South Bend this Saturday to mingle with the rejuvenated Notre Dame eleven. If the Tartans get by this rugged test they have only to dispose of the New York University juggernaut the following week to finish with a clean slate and perhaps earn a jaunt to the Pacific coast for intersectional honors.

There isn't much rest in sight, either, for Iowa and Nebraska. Burt Ingwerson's Hawkeyes ride the "Big Ten" crest now, as a result of beating Ohio State, but they clash with Wisconsin this Saturday in another crucial contest. The only thing that bars Wisconsin's slate is a tie with Purdue so that there is anything but a soft assignment in prospect for McLain, Pape and other Iowa aces.

Hard Games For Nebraska.

Nebraska, with the Big Six crown about clinched, turns to intersectional foes for the next two weeks, playing Pittsburgh this Saturday at Lincoln before coming to West Point. The Cornhusker Charge, led by the famous Blue Howell, is at its peak now but it will need to stay there to survive the impending tests.

The classic touch to this week's program is furnished by the Yale-Princeton affair but it won't have a great deal of bearing on the championship situation. The Elis have been bumped much harder than the Tigers. They were upset by Maryland Saturday in one of the day's outstanding reversals, on top of a previous defeat by Army. Princeton has been tied twice, by Virginia and Ohio State, but otherwise the Tigers have a clean, even if not overly impressive slate.

West Virginia, which has been coming along like a house afire, winning seven in a row after losing the opening game to Davis and Elkins, runs into Georgetown this week. Missouri comes east to play New York University and share the spotlight with such other rivalries as Columbia-Pennsylvania, Cornell-Dartmouth, Colgate-Syracuse and Harvard-Holy Cross.

Tennessee must beat Vanderbilt and Florida must dispose of Clemson to keep step with Georgia Tech. Stumming the tornado is too strong for Alabama, in the southern conference race. These three are having a merry battle right now, even though Tech appears to hold the edge.

Southern Methodist is engaged in a hot fight to hold the southwestern conference lead, as a result of being tied by the Texas Aggies. S. M. U. plays Baylor this week while the University of Texas tackles Texas Christian.

Utah, its winning streak upset by the with Creighton in an intersectional game, returns to the Rocky Mountain conference this week, favored to beat Brigham Young and keep the lead while Colorado College battles Colorado University.

Southern California, now sharing the Pacific coast lead with California, may find a tartar in Washington State but the Trojans will be favored as will be California over Nevada and Stanford over Washington.

SCHALK WILL ASSIST JOHN McGRAW

New York, Nov. 13 (AP).—Ray Schalk, one of the greatest catchers the major leagues have ever seen, has agreed to assist John J. McGraw in the "master-minding" of the New York Giants next year. Schalk resigned as manager of the Chicago White Sox in July.

He will succeed Roger Bresnahan, another great catcher, who, it is understood, asked for his release because he had "something better in view". It was expected Bresnahan would become a minor league club manager.

Armory Card for Friday, Nov. 23

Vince Coffey to Fight Georgie Deschner in Main Attraction—Supporting Bouts Promise Much Action—Tickets on Sale Now.

Captain E. C. Lawson, First Battalion, 156th Field Artillery, has his card of bouts for November 23 complete with the exception of one six rounder. He has signed Vince Coffey to meet Georgie Deschner of the Coast Artillery, New Jersy division, in the main attraction, while the rest of the program contains the names of battlers, who, it is said, will give the fans their money's worth.

Coffey has not ceased his training started several months ago. His condition is now of a stable calibre and with one bout under his belt—the win over Oscar Ford here last Friday—the Kingston battler counts on stringing a number of victories in the National Guard boxing circles. Coffey will have no easy time with the Coast Artilleryman for he is a hard puncher. Deschner has mixed it with some very good boys according to Jimmy Ambrose, National Guard matchmaker, who predicts a hard time for Vince Coffey.

The supporting bouts to the Coffey-Deschner tilt are as follows: Joe starr of West Point vs. Charlie Handford of the 39th Infantry, New York city, 6 rounds; Nick Zinna of Kingston vs. Patsy Haley of Newburgh, 6 rounds; Dewey Van Buren of Kingston vs. Mickey Farkus of Newburgh, 4 rounds; Kid McNorton of Newburgh vs. Andy Young of New York, 4 rounds.

Fight fans are especially eager to see the Zinna-Haley fight and the Van Buren-Farkus tilt. Zinna made a name for himself by decisively beating Charlie Handford at the armory last week. He has a style of his own, that the fans like but which proves very puzzling to his opponents. Haley, the Newburgher is a neat little boxer and his cleverness is expected to add much to the affair.

Dewey Van Buren and Mickey Farkus fought a draw at Newburgh some time ago. Many thought the decision should have been given to the Kingston man, who says he will beat Farkus here on Friday, November 23.

Tickets for the fight racket may be obtained at the armory by 'phoning any time during the day. It is advised that those who wish good reserved seats make arrangements as early as possible as the calibre of the card predicts a record crowd.

Armory Gym for Guard Fighters

A gym for National Guard fighters has been started in the armory by Sergeant James M. McCabe, regular army man stationed here as an instructor in the First Battalion, 156th Field Artillery, and Eugene Conway, a member of the battalion's combat train.

Several scrappers of Kingston have enrolled in the gym, the heads of which will also act as managers for the Guardsmen under their charge. Three West Point men are also under the management of Sergeant McCabe and Mr. Conway, who expect to have their men fighting in the Metropolis as well as on Kingston cards.

Nick Zinna, local scrapper, who decisively beat Charlie Handford, a prominent Guard scrapper, in the armory last Friday night, is one of the local men under the care of McCabe and Conway. It is expected that this battler will put Kingston on the map in National Guard boxing circles. Roy Van Buren will endeavor to make a strong comeback after a layoff, under the supervision of the local mentors.

Gene Painter, Joe Star and Bill Freman of West Point are also under the booking rights of Sergt. McCabe and his partner. Painter has been seen in action here and although he lost his last fight to Lee Page, one of the best in the 369th Infantry, it can be said that he has a number of admirers in Kingston.

Joe Star and Bill Freman are unknown to Kingston fans. Both are good scrappers though, according to men who have seen them in action. Star is one of the best scrappers at West Point, while Freman, before he joined the army took on some of the best in the state of Florida. Joe Coffey, brother of Vince who is now a National Guardsman, highly recommended Freman to Sergeant McCabe. The giant negro, who was introduced to Kingston fans at the fights on Friday night, has the record of winning 22 fights, 20 of which were accomplished by the knockout route.

Negotiations are now under way to purchase a number of training contrivances to install at the armory. They will be added to those now set up in a room adjoining the big drill room.

BIGGEST THRILL IN A GRID GAME

Yale Player Blocks Drop-Kick Attempt by Harvard.

George C. Moseley, Yale football end in 1915-16, had a thrilling experience in his football career. Among other things he views with amused interest is his record of never having played a Harvard team and lost, writes Fred A. Huyser in the Chicago Daily News. Both at Hill school and as a Yale freshman his teams won from the Crimson yearlings. The year Harvard beat Yale 42 to 0 in 1915 Moseley was laid up in the Princeton game and did not get into the later Yale-Harvard mixup. He was a back in 1916 and helped beat Harvard 6 to 3. He was made an all-American end in 1916.

"Possibly my biggest thrill came in a Princeton game which we won," he said.

"In the 1916 Princeton-Yale game my team punted. There were about six Princeton men waiting for the ball to drop on about the 15-yard line. It fell and bounced high. As there was no one else jumping for it I decided to do so and took the ball to the 10-yard line. After three plays we drop-kicked a goal for three points.

"Princeton later took the ball to our 15-yard line, where they paused. I sensed a drop kick try and asked my tackle to play wide, as I was going in. As the ball was passed I shot straight in and jumped on the halfback's back. I jumped from him directly into the path of the kicked ball and it hit me fairly in the stomach and knocked me cold. It prevented their scoring and we later scored a touchdown and won 19 to 0.

"I was not taken from the game, but played it out. In those days the coaches tried to select eleven or twelve men who could play the entire game."

Bob Meusel Has Been Dubbed "Slow and Lazy"

One of the greatest money players in the game, despite his aversion to wasting physical effort where he deems it will do no good, earned the sobriquet "Slow and Lazy" for not running out a bounder which Heinie Groh subsequently dribbled across the diamond in the 1922 series. To make it worse, Aaron Ward crossed Lanky Bob by following with a home run, which, with Meusel's run, would have tied the score and perhaps enabled the Yankees to escape with two ties and four defeats rather than just one tie.

With Hoyt, Ruth and Huggins, Bob is a survivor of the first Yankee championship club of 1921. He bats with his right and throws the same way—throws from town to town.

Baseball School Will Open at Los Angeles

Baseball has taken its place among the fine arts in academic science. A school, whose faculty will be composed of men who have won more or less fame in the realm of baseball, past and present, has been organized at Los Angeles for the purpose of instructing young players in the national pastime. Rookies of the diamond will come under the personal supervision of such men as Frank ("Pop") Dillon, Jess Orndorff and Johnnie Bassler.

The course will run for three months, December to March, and negotiations are being completed for use of Wrigley field as the training site.

Rice Puts Grid Hope in Three Old Illini Stars

The football wagon of Rice Institute is hitched to three stars of the Illinois constellation.

Claude Rothgeb, head coach at Rice, was an outstanding Illini athlete a quarter of a century ago.

"Pug" Daugherty, Rothgeb's assistant, was at Illinois in the era of "Red" Grange. It was "Pug's" interference that enabled the famous Iceman to deliver touchdowns.

"Peanuts" Schulz, new mentor of freshmen at Rice, was a member of the Illinois team that won the Western conference football championship last fall.

Cover Flaws in Pearls

Pearls require no polishing by a jeweler, and his only work on them is to mount them. When a pearl has a flaw, such as a pin-head blister or a pin-point depression, a jeweler will only buy it at a greatly reduced price. But he doesn't lose anything himself when he sells it, for if the pearl is selected for a necklace, a hole is bored through the flaw. If it is used in a ring or brooch, the flaw is set down into the mount, so that the purchaser cannot see it.

United States Fisheries

It is estimated roughly that in the United States about 12,000 persons are engaged in our ocean fisheries. The catch totals annually almost 3,000,000,000 pounds of fish, and the fishermen receive from $105,000,000 to $110,000,000 for their labors.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Nov. 13 (AP)—The "Hoover" market, which has been creating new altitude records almost daily for the past week, threatened to go into a nosedive today when squalls of selling swept through the list, but was pulled up again by a brisk demand for U. S. Steel Common, which was marked up more than 3 points to a new high record at 16[illegible]. Trading fell below yesterday's record-breaking volume although the ticker again fell 40 minutes behind the market by early afternoon.

A series of selling attacks around midday undermined a number of the high-priced specialties. National Tea broke 25 points, Radio 12¼, Wright Aeronautical 10 and Mexican Seaboard, American Express, Adams Express, Vanadium Steel, International Nickel, American Smelting, Allied Chemical, Packard Motors, Coty, Chrysler, Barnsdall A, Eastman Kodak and Canadian Pacific toppled 1 to 7 points before sufficient buying support was forthcoming to stem the tide of selling. All made partial recovery in the early afternoon rally.

Selling is believed to have originated largely with bear traders, who have been feeling for the top of the market since the wild outburst of speculation started a week ago. There also was considerable liquidation by investors and traders who were alarmed at the rapidity of the recent advance, and the market's seeming disregard of the mounting volume of brokers' loans and the low yield basis of many of the more volatile issues.

Except for a series of favorable dividend announcements, including 50 cents extra on Chicago and Northwestern, there was little in the day's news to influence the price movement. Prospects of further stock splitups, including one by the Otis Elevator Company tomorrow, helped to stimulate bullish enthusiasm.

Greene Cananea was well bought, rising 6 points on a large volume of trading. Sears Roebuck ran up 6 points to 177¾, dropped to 172 and then ran up to a new high at 179¼. Montgomery-Ward advanced 5½ points to 298½ and then fell back to 387. Timken Roller Bearing advanced 4 points on reports of increased earnings.

Two Killed in Auto Mishap

Pawlet, Vt., Nov. 13 (AP).—Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Greenwood of Bennington were instantly killed early today when their automobile left the state highway from Granville, N. Y., to Manchester, Vt., near here, rolled down a 10-foot embankment and crashed into a tree.

The Greenwoods had been attending a meeting of Odd Fellows at Fair Haven and were returning home when the accident occurred. There is a sharp curve in the highway at the scene of the accident and police today gave it as their opinion that blinding headlights of an approaching car caused the accident.

The bodies were found by Daniel Colvin, owner of the property on which the accident occurred, who was attracted by the lights of the machine, which remained burning after the accident. Mr. Greenwood was pinned in the wreckage of the car, but his wife was thrown about 6 feet away.

He said he did not think he would stop at Warm Springs, Ga., to see Franklin D. Roosevelt, governor-elect.

"I am trying to get away from politics. I've had a lot of it for four months."

None of the members of his family will accompany him. The governor expects to spend the greater part of his time playing golf.

The broadcasting of the governor's speech will be over the WEAF chain of the National Broadcasting System.

Gov. Smith Going To Mississippi

New Orleans, Nov. 13 (AP).—Governor Alfred E. Smith of New York will reach the gulf coast Friday or Saturday for a vacation at the Edgewater Gulf Hotel, midway between Gulfport and Biloxi.

The governor is expected to be accompanied by Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi, who is a close friend of the defeated Democratic presidential candidate. The length of the party's stay has not been determined. This information was learned authoritatively in New Orleans although officials of Edgewater Gulf Hotel declined to confirm it.

It is understood that reservations have been made for some time but the governor requested that his plans be kept quiet.

C. H. Gates and wife of Lihue, Kauai, T. Hawaii, are in town on a visit to Mrs. Gates's father, Willis M. Burhans of Glenerie. miles away before the arrival of the first rescue ship.

O'Loighlin, the radio operator, who stayed at his post until the decks of the ship were awash, is 26 years old and of Irish extraction. He has been a radio operator 12 years.

Captain Carey, who has been with the Lamport and Holt Line 30 years, was making his last trip on the Vestris. He was to have taken command of the Voltaire, flagship of the line, at Buenos Aires. The Voltaire, making her maiden voyage, is one of the ships rushing to the scene of the wreck.

Built in Ireland in 1912.

The Vestris was built in Ireland in 1912 and was valued at $2,000,000. Her cargo, which included automobiles, machinery, silks, barrel oil and fruit and 1,097 sacks of mail, was valued at approximately $1,000,000.

In the hopes that the Vestris might be still afloat two salvage tugs were dispatched from New York to the scene of the wreck. They hoped to tow her into port if she had not gone down after she was abandoned.

SAFETY FIRST!

The examination of titles to real property and the preparation of Abstracts of Title is a technical profession, burdened with much responsibility, both financial and moral.

The certification of each Abstract is only as financially sound as the financial worth of its endorser.

Abstracts of Title (or searches), of necessity, are not independent products of the individual, firm or corporation certifying, but are dependent to a large extent upon the ability and integrity of persons in the employ of the various state, county and city offices, faithfully performing the duties of their respective offices.

Thus, such certifications do represent financial risks and no individual regardless of ability is sufficiently sound, financially, to Guarantee against Loss, by reason of errors and omissions.

Value is contingent, not upon price alone, but upon usefulness and importance. The value of an Abstract of Title is contingent upon the Guarantee behind its endorser's certificate.

Obtain that Guarantee at no greater price and you have a Valuable Abstract of Title.

We offer an indispensable service to you in Safeguarding, at all times, you and your clients' interest from Loss, and request that you

"ALLOW US TO ASSUME THE RISK."

Market for Fruits And Vegetables

New York, Nov. 13 (AP)—(State Department of Agriculture and Markets)—Supplies of white potatoes were liberal today, nevertheless the undertone of the market was steady. Early morning trading at terminals in New York city and Brooklyn was moderate. Round white potatoes in bulk, from the western part of the state, jobbed out at mainly $2 per 150 pounds. Maine Green Mountain stock sold at $2.15-$2.25.

White potato receipts on this market, exclusive of trucked in supplies, totaled 1,961 cars. Long Island contributed 905, Maine 826 and upstate New York 43. The remainder originated in six states in addition to imports from Canada.

Little activity was noted on state carrots, the demand was slow and receipts light. Cut, washed carrots peddled out at $1.50-$1.75 a bushel basket. Unwashed brought $1.15-$1.25.

The market situation on celery was without any noticeable change. Receipts were moderate from this state. Two-thirds crates from western New York wholesaled at $1.25-$2.50 on poor to ordinary and $2.75-$3.75 on good to fancy. Pacific coast celery in large crates worked out at $4.50-$6.75.

Receipts of domestic yellow onions were moderate. Trading was fair and the tone of the market was steady. Offerings from upstate New York were fair in quality and medium to small in size and jobbed out at $2.90-$3.75 per 100-pound sack. Consignments from the middle western states, medium to large in size and generally superior in quality, changed hands at $3.60-$4.35.

Onion supplies received on this market during the preceding week filled 159 cars, of which 57 were imported from Holland and Spain.

The demand for state white Danish cabbage was rather slow. Price changes, however, were few and small and the market ruled about steady. Jobbing sales on bulk shipments were reported at $30-$35 per ton on white and $40-$50 on red. Holland white cabbage packed in hampers of approximately 100 pounds sold at $2-$2.25 and red at $2.50-$2.75.

Saturday Will Be "Heart Day" Here

Saturday will be "Heart Day" for the Volunteers of America, permission having been given to a representative of that institution, founded over 50 years ago by General and Mrs. Maud Ballington Booth. This is to be a short, active drive to help children in this city, for all the work is to be done by local girls under the immediate direction of a local leader.

The following well-known people will serve as sponsors for the occasion: The Hon. Jos. D. Bruhn, the Rev. Harrison H. Brack, Jr., Mrs. Rodney H. Easterbrook, Mrs. Edgar N. Palen, Mrs. C. E. Wonderly, Mrs. Ray Fowler.

The Volunteers of America is foremost in the nation in its systematic spiritual work in the prisons of the United States. Hope halls and farm camps are maintained where discharged or paroled men may spend from one day to two weeks while seeking employment. In similar fashion of prisoners are helped anywhere in the state. Children's homes, day nurseries, homes for working girls and for the aged, poor boys' clubs, employment bureaus, fresh air camps, missions, etc., extend from coast to coast wherever the need is felt.

Referring to the work of the organization President-elect Herbert Hoover says: "I wish to record a personal word of congratulation to the Volunteers of America and to General and Mrs. Booth for the splendid services they have performed. Unselfish and truly devoted efforts like yours are indeed valuable assets in maintaining the American standard of living on the level which places the value of American citizenship above all others."

The work of the Volunteers of America is supported entirely by voluntary contributions.
